

USC's textbook distribution system needs improvement – high prices and limited availability of books leaves many students without proper access to textbooks.

